*An excellent opportunity either as a technical introduction or update for port engineers or as an introduction to this field for other port disciplines; planners, managers and port users. Interact with experts, practicing professionals, lecturers, peers and students in this exciting field! All are welcome to attend!

The Short Course is presented by international and local experts, including Prof Elen Twrdy, Dean of the Faculty of Maritime Studies and Transport, University of Ljubljana, Slovenia and Prof Ron Cox, Honorary Associate Professor, School of Civil and Environmental Engineering, University of New South Wales, Sydney, Australia. Prof Twrdy will lecture on the regional planning for the Port of Koper (Slovenia) and how it ties in with the European transport corridors, the regional rail links to the Ports of Trieste (Italy), Koper and Rijeka (Croatia) and the One Belt One Road (Silk Road) Chinese initiative and its impact on the ports in the North Adriatic Sea. Prof Cox is a Board member of PIANC Australia and the Convenor of the Australian Climate Change Adaptation Research Network for Settlements and Infrastructure. He will talk on climate change impacts on ports, enhancing the resilience of seaports, a climate change risk assessment for Avatiu, Cook Islands and upgrading of breakwaters for climate change. An excursion to the CSIR Hydraulic Laboratory in Stellenbosch will be undertaken. Case studies will be presented by leading consulting engineers and contractors.

This short course also forms part of the Post Graduate Programme in Port & Coastal Engineering at the University of Stellenbosch which is sponsored by Transnet National Ports Authority (South Africa).

Participants will be provided with course material (presentations). The course will be presented in English. CPD credits will be awarded for days attended (not for students).
